(Refer to Act 28-799)

NSS PRIVACY POLICY

The NSS is committed to using any information members and customers give us in a responsible manner.

Information collected from NSS members will be used only by the NSS. The NSS will make member's contact information available only to NSS members, except in the case of NSS officers, committee and commission chairmen, and others who agree to have their contact information posted on the NSS Web page because of their role within the Society. The NSS will not rent or sell any information about members to non-affiliated organizations or businesses. However, the NSS may provide a membership mailing list to a select credit card company to enable an annual mailing to promote its NSS loyalty credit card.

Labels with members' postal addresses may be provided only to NSS Internal Organizations, Activities, committees or commissions, and for a specific purpose and a one-time use, as otherwise outlined in the NSS Board Acts.

Lists of members' e-mail addresses will not be shared or distributed, except in the annual NSS Members Manual. E-mail addresses may be used by the NSS to contact members, NSS Internal Organizations, Activities, committees or commissions, as described in Board Acts.

Information collected on NSS bookstore customers will be kept confidential, used solely by the NSS, and not provided to another organization or company. Web cookies will not be used to store personal information.

Financial information collected from NSS members and customers will not be kept on the NSS Web site, and will not be made available to anyone except when permitted or required by law for fraud investigation. In this case, we may share information with governmental agencies or other companies assisting us in criminal investigation, but the information is not provided to these agencies or companies for marketing purposes.

Requests by members not to be included on any lists provided to NSS organizations, in the NSS Members Manual, the credit card company, and/or otherwise included in information available to members or in the public domain will be honored.
